DRAGO

We started running this business 30 years ago, thanks to Mr. Marco Franceschetti, and if back then we had perfectly idea of what we were doing, now we got more than only ideas. Today we believe that there's not a single way to do things, but every customer has his own.

A lot of companies prefer to talk about them, but we prefer that you tell us about yourself, your way to do things, the transports that you deal with and your country's road regulation. Only in this way we will be able to customize your tippers, shaped around your needs.

Today we got the people. Some of them started doing this job 30 years ago, with all the experience that is possible to gain in such amount of time. There's infinite specifics and details combinations, but we know which are the best for your company.

At Drago we manufacture custom, heavy-duty, Hardox 500 tipper bodies and semi-trailers with a patented space-saving design, which makes possible fitting 3 semi-trailers or 8 rigid truck bodies in a 40' container as a CKD kit.

This will lower by far the shipment costs, and the kit can be assembled by 2 men in 2 hours with just nutrunners and a fork lift or crane. There won't be any problem to realize any shape you want with 3D modeling. We could also offer a consulting service to help create a bolted design mod for your existing products, which will considerably reduce your shipping costs between different facilities.

We already have several business cooperations with many companies from all around the world, all with different shapes and optional. That's the business we've been running in the latest 30 years.

If you want to commission something to sell in your market, without getting crazy to organize everything for the production, just give us the specs. We'll prepare tech sheets, drawings and renders to give you the final product's closest idea.
